All the cheer and hope the democrats of Ohio get in the campaign a e bought at the rate of ten cents a glass. While this creates "enthusiasm" it doesn't make

An Ohio justice at a recent inquest rendered a verdict of "numbertional suioide." The judiciary of this country should build a monument to that justice's memory when he dies.

The only October states this year are Ohio and Iows. The states that elect in November are Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Ponusylvania. Maryland, Mississippi and Virginia.

According to the Chicago News, that city must "clean its streets or cularge its grave-yards." Chicago's well known enterprise in real estate transactions will probably lead the city to enlarge the cometeries.

An old base ball man writes to the Philadelphia Press, that in 1860, one Richard B. Willis, who is now dead, first brought out the curve style in pitching. It has been claimed that a Harvard pitcher first introduced the device in 1874.

The Jumbo of our railway system seems to be President Villard, at this particular time. He is mighty to command, great in resources, and doesn't care for the expense in getting up the Northern Pacific excursion which will cost $200,000.

Governor Rusk has appointed the following delegates to represent this state at the national conference of charities which opens in Louisville, Ky., September 22d: Hon. Wm. Elwell, Sheboygan; Mrs. D. A. Olin, Mrs. Pendleton, Racine; Hon. John Mather, La Crosse; J. C. Hall, M. D. Monroe; Hon. C. H. Haskins, Mrs. D. H. Johnson, Milwaukee; Miss Ella A. Giles, Madison, and Hon. Geo. W. Foster, Ozaukee.

Keely's motor has been resurrected, and it is said that the day of burlesquing that machine is past. Very good. If Mr. Keely can make his motor work, he will be the most celebrated inventor the world has ever produced. The matter of perfecting the machine has got so far along that a trial has been put down for September when a train will be drawn by it from Philadelphia to New York. If Mr. Keely can make the laugh come from the other side, he will do the world a most valuable service.

The entire literary world has much sympathy for Mr. Tenuyson, the poet laureate. The queen has requested him to celebrate the virtues of John Brown, her lamented servant, in verse, and as one has said, he may well wish he were dead, for Brown's life was "wanting in a single episode or incident the least romantic or calculated to stir the warmer emotions of the heart; and if the poet laurente succeeds in making out snything poetic of such a subject he will deserve as much celebrity as the philosopher who extracted sunbeams from cucumbers."

It would be a good thing in some respeets it means could be devised by which the silver dollar would have "to get" out of the vault at Washington. The standard silver dollars in the treasury four years ago were $32,000,000; a year later they were $47,000,000; two years ago they were $67,000,000; one year ago they amounted to over $90,000,000, and now they reach $100,000,000, and money has to be appropriated to create storage room for them. When a coin has to beg for friends, and none will give it room, it is about time to stop its coinage.

The sunflower which for some time has held dominion over Oscar Wilde's lapel, has faded at last. He recently wrote a play and called it "Vera." It was put upon the boards_in New York, and utterly failed to be appreciated. As the author is a total wreck as far as common sense is concerned, so the play is a completo wreck as regards anything that doserves praise. The people and the critics were patient with the play for some time, but the more it was seen and studied the worse it became, and it was at last taken from the stage. When Mr. Wilde good V10₩

General Ward, of Onio, the rockribbed bourbon, who was defeated in the democratic convention for governor, has felt very sore ever since, but this week he made his first speech since the convention. While he pretended to speak for Judge Hoadly, his speech was so ultra that instead of giving comfort to the democrats it will furnish material aid to the republicans. His denunciation of civil service reform was exceedingly bitter, and will do the democrate far more harm than good. He reiterated the cry of the democrats that to the victors belong the spoils of office, and that the republicans must be turned out and the democrats turned in. General Ward reflects the sentiment of the Ohio democracy, but he is the only man among them who has courage to express his convictions. He is honest in one thing, and from this we can already see why there is some reason to guess that Judge Foraker will be elected by a large majority,

BLUSTERING WINDS.

Disastrous Results of the Recent Atlantic Gales.

The Storm One of the Severest Ever Known---Many Vessels Driven On the Rocks and Wrecked.

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 31.—Last night's gale is asserted to be the beaviest August storm experienced in this region since the disastrous one of 1873, and reports of its results now coming to hand indicate that there will be cause to make it as long remembered as that of ten years ago. Early in the evening the wind, which had been blowing beavily from the eastward, changed to the southeast, increased greatly in violence, and shortly be-fore midnight, moving round in the northeast, grew still stronger, and for the succeed-ing hours raged with awful power. When at its heaviest, the wind, it is estimated, blew with the velocity of fifty miles an hour. The effects of the storm in and about the city were not great, being confined chiefly to the destruction of boats in the harbor and the stranding of others. The brig C. W. Ander-son, from Porto Rico, laden with sugar, was driven ashore during the night between the south end of the city and Point Pleasant, and was taken off leaking in the mern-The United States wer-ship Swattire which arrived in port from New York, and was lying in the middle of the harbor, dragged her anchor for some distance and was almost carried against one of the city wharves. Telegrams from outside report extensive damage to shipping, including the destruction of two vessels that bad previously gone ashore but which it was hoped would be saved. The steamer Brantford City, which grounded two weeks ago at Little Harbor, Shelbourn, while on passage from Halifax to Boston, had been lying in a favorable position to be taken off and brought to this port for repairs but was rendered a total wreck. The violent wind ground her to pieces on the shore, and what cargo remained on board is now floating about and being saved by boats. The A. B. Crosly, a schooner of 198 tons register, which went on Halfmoon rocks, near Barrington, several weeks ago, while bound from Crow bay, Cape Breton, with a cargo of coal for Boston, was beaton to pieces, her broken hull being found on the beach this morning. The vessel was owned by her captain, Sylvester Bouderat, of Arichat, Cape Breton, and was insured for $6,000 in Halifax The schooner Amos B., Capt. The schooner Maggie F. ran ashore in the harbor of Maina-dieu, Capo Broton, where she arrived sav-eral days ago from Halifax, and is reported to be a total creek. She was owned and com manded by Charles a Mantell, of Mainadieu, and registered ninety-one tons. Telegraph wires to the eastward of the city were pros trated by the storm, and no intelligence has yet been received of the extent of the damage between Tangier and Canso. Reports from the latter place that four schooners, the Sea Gull, Belle of the Bay, Helen and May, and Four Brothers are ashore, and all badly injured. The schooner Lady Key lying at Pet de Grat, parted her chains, and was compelled to put to sea. She arrived at Canso with a spar in tow, which had been picked up at son, and is supposed to be the mizzen mast of some brigan-tine. Telegrams from North Sydney, Cape

Breton, report the damage wide-spread, but

THE PRESIDENT.

The Party Encamped Between the

Two Great Falls.

Aug. 23, via Livingston, M. T., Aug. 30,— Leaving the Yellowstone Lake at 6:25, the president's party journeyed eighteen miles over a splendid trail to this point. The road was equal to any turapike in the states, and on the way the party, halted at the wonder-ful mud geysers. One of them is known as "The Editor's Hate," and one as the Devil's Caldron." As the party looked into the first, and listened to the rush and rour of the seething: water and mud that eternally boils but finds no outlet, it was gen-stone river seems to tear its way through the solid mountains, leaving in its pathway forms of uncouth and awful majesty seen nowhere else. Mingled with those scenes of nature, we find here, also, the inevitable tourists, male and female, each of whom is anxious to see not only the canon but the president, and it is wickedly suggested by some that the eyes of these lovers of nature are directed more frequently to the latter than to the former. We will probably remain here, and expect to reach the railroad on September 1. So far, the trip has been one of unalloyed pleasure, and all are in the New York, Aug. 31 .- The great cathedral of the incarnation and St. Paul's school, at Garden City, L. L, which has been declared completed, has been five years in course of erection and the school nearly three years. The cost, defrayed by the Stewart estate, has been nearly $3,000,000. The interior of the cathedral presents a beautiful ap-pearance The altar was made in Antwerp, Belgium. It is composed of statuary, marble, and eight panels. The windows of stained glass were made in London. They represent the incurnation or the childhood of Christ. The glass in the windows of the mausoleum was also made in London. These windows represent the passion, death, resurrection, and appearance of Christ in his last days.

The dean's seat, which will be filled by the Rev. Dr. Drowne, is of carved mahogeny, and was made in Philadelphia. It has not been placed in its appropriate position yet. The pulpit and lectern are of bronze. The organ cost $100,000. It is in five parts, and each part is played from the single key-board, by which the chimes in the tower are also played from the organ key-board by electrical attachments. The organ cases are of mahogany, carved in harmony. The cases and stalls together cost $50,000. The crypt is of marblo, and every country is represented in its construction. It does not contain the remains of the late A. T. Stewart. The busement is fitted up with a Sunday chapel. The stair-cases are all of iron. The walls and steeple of the cathedral are of Bellevue (N. J.) stone; the interior columns are ornamented with bronze foliage. St. Paul's school is believed to be the finest educational structure in the world. It has accommodations for 500 pupils. It is believed by the people of Gardon city that the remains of A. T. Stewart lie beneath the cathedral chancel. A gentleman very near to Judge Hilton, and who acted as one of his chief advisers in the search for the body, said: "I can state of my own personal knowledge that Judge Hilton is to-day no nearer the possession of Mr. Stewart's re-mains than he was a week after its removal from St. Mark's church graveyard. I know this to be a fact, and Judge Hilton if approached, will bear out this statement." "When do you hops for a restoration of the body?" "Never, Judge Hilton and Mrs. Stewart felt for a time that a restoration must be had at any sacrifice. Men were sent all over the country on vague clews, and over $100, 000 was spent in the search, and everything possible done to recover the body. The matter is definitely settled now, and under no circumstances will further negotiations be entered into, After the last failure Judge Hilton and Mrs. Stewart held a consultation, at which it was decided to hasten the cathedral to completion, believing that by carry ing out this great project of his life the mer-chant prince would be shown greater honor than by a fruitless search after a mouldering

COLONEL CASH,

CHICAGO, Aug, 31.—The Times correspondent at Washington city telegraphs the following remarks of Col. Cash, of South Caro lina, in answer to questions as to the situa-

They will join the church first, Butler has been joining the church. He is d-d pious. At Lancaster the Bourbons got the fuss up expressly to kill the negroes. I was told the night before that three negres were to be killed, but I did not believe it. In 1876 we promised that the rights of no man, white or black, should be impaired if we were successful, and Hampton said he would resign rather than allow anything of that kind to be done; and now the Bourbous have passed a law preconting men who can't read and write from voting. What kind of a way is that to keep acpledges. Why, a negro now has not one solitarytright in South Carolina except to lay down and die. In 1876 we abused the Republicans because they had created a great many usoless offices simply to give their political workers salaries. It was all true, but now we have 1,162 officers in the state that the radicals didn't have. Many of them pay as high as $3,500. Last year the Rapublicans did not care much about the election, and there was neglect in appointing supervisors of election. Whenever there were supervisors I got a majority of the votes. Everywhere else they counted me out.

"Next year the Republicans will have plenty of interest and the supervisors will be looked after. We can't do anything unless we can get a fair count, and we can't get that unless we have United States supervisors. I don't think the Inction now controlling the state offices can get 20,000 votes in a fair count. I think the Independent party in South Carolina would be very apt to vote for a Republican presidential ticket, and with Federal supervisors to secure a fair count we will sweep things in my state. The Independents will do all the fighting and got all the blows, and the Republicans hold all the offices. I don't know that any Independents have tried to get any office they were treated like the readjusters in Virginia and the Coalitionists in North Carolina, it would encourage them a igreat deal and help them to bout the Bourbons. If President bad worked the thing right, he could have changed 10,000 votes in my state. I could do that with just one office."

"What office do you refer to?"

"The marshall's office. There has not been for years an honest election in South Carolina, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana or Florida. The Democrats have got to carry those states to elect a president, and I don't know what kind of a man President Arthur is, but if he is any kind of a man he won't allow any men to be inaugurated president who owes his election to the fraudulent vote in these states. Ho will call out the army and hold on to the presidency till a successor has been honestly elected. Butler says it would be a good thing if 200,000 of the negroes would leave the state, but he does not know or care. He gots his living out of the government, not out of the soil. We've got to have the negro, and the tyranhy they suffer he state. has driven too many of thom from the state.

We need to treat them so that they will

Cleveland Bank Officials Deal in Stocks With the Bank's Money---A Sensational Feature.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Aug. 31.—Heary L. St. John and S. T. Fuller, cashier and assistant cashier of the Second National bank of Jefferson, had a hearing before United States Commissioner White on charge of embez-zling $50,000 of the bank's funds. It will be remembered this bank failed in December, 1882, on account of having used its funds for stock speculations. Both were bound over to the United States The startling feature district court. Fuller fled to Canada last winter, but since returned, and both were arthe case was that the Hon. Stephen A. Northway, who was president of the bank at the time of the failure, refused at first to testify for faar his evidence would have a tendency to criminate himself. He finally testified, but declined to to criminate answer many questions for same reason. Testimony showed he was somewhat mixed up in the affair himself, being cognizant of their embezzlement at least eight months before the directors knew of it, and being mixed up with them in speculation on margins. Ho was arrested on the same charge as they be fore he left the court room; and will have a hearing in two weeks. He is one of the most prominent men in northern Ohio. He lives in Jefferson, Ashtabula county. He has served in the Ohio legislature, and was a candidate for the Republican nomination for congress to succeed Garfield, but was defeated in the convention by Judgo Taylor. Ho is a Knights Templar, an able lawyer and prom-inent and popular. His arrest was very quictly made, but when it becomes known will create a sensation both here and in Ashtabula county, where his home is. At the hearing, S. T. Fuller, the cashier charged with embezzlement, was put upon the stand. He admitted using the money of the bank in conjunction with the two others for stock speculations, but said he with no fraudulent intent. He said that after a man named Lampson had ceased to be in the combination with Northaway and St. John, he (Fuller) was asked by them to take an interest. He told them that he was a poor man and could not secure the bank in case he lost. He did not remember just what answer they made him, but know that he went in under the impression that they would stand between him and any loss to the bank. He said that when they were short they drew on Hatch & Foote, of New York He said that Northaway knew of this and did not object. Mr. Henry L. St. John next took the stand, and there was not a person in the room who did not pity the old man. Added to his other infirmities, he has a very poor memory and could recollect but little of the details of the speculations that had reined him. He said that nine years ago he had $30,000 in the bank, and that his son was also interested.

"We used that till things began to look bad.
Then we borrowed some from the bank," said

"You expected to repay it, did you?" "Why I was just as sure on't as I was that I was alive," he replied. After he had con-cluded Mr. Northaway asked to be allowed to ask him a few questions. Mr. Northaway was at this time visibly affected. His voice quivered with emotion as he asked appeal-

Don't you know I never used or sauctioned the use of a deliar of the bank's money unless it was secured."

"I suppose you thought it was secured," answered Mr. St. John.

"Did you not say last winter that I had ever done anything criminal?" "I never thought that you did do anything criminal. I didn't view your case as a criminal case. I never blamed anybody but my-

This concluded the restimony, and no arguments were made. Commissioner White bound the defendants over to appear before the United States grand jury in October. Henry L. St. John's bail was fixed at $500 in view of his extreme age, and the bond of Sylvester T. Fuller was fixed at $1,500. Both secured bondsmen. Northway's bond was fixed at $5,000.

STRANGE BUT TRUE.

Nover Been a Wife But Wants All-

mony all the Same. go, Aug. 31.—A rather strauge story is told by a very young woman, who, though wife, still has really never been such. Nellie Baker sues for a logal separation from Cheley Baker, her mother, Mrs. Collins, making the plea as the next friend of her daughter, who is under ago. According to the bill, Nellie Collins, when only 15 years of age, married a teamster named Chelcy Baker on Christmas eve, 1882, but has never lived with him. From the day of their marriage they have lived apart, and as she does not love him she will never fulfil the childish vows pledged to him. Chelcy Baker is said to be between 30 and 40 years of ago, and prevailed upon the unsophisticated girl to marry him by false representations, she alloges. Having secured her through fraud, and being under age, she insists that he has no right to demand that wifely companionship she has never for one hour accorded him. Baker, the petition avers, earns $2 per day as the driver of a wagon, and owns a house and lot in Brighton, Cook county, worth $12,000. Though refusing to live with him, and never having done so, and even denying that he has any claim to her as a wife, she files a petition also, asking for alimony. It is question whether she is entitled to receive anything, as she alleges she never performed one wifely duty for him, and a marriage of the kind described is unsanctioned by law.

Harrison Can Have It CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—Gen. J. C. Black, of Danville, Ill., at the Palmer house, said to a reporter: "I don't know who will be the Democratic nominee for governor next year but I do know that Republican candidate thick as fleas in the sands and they are rustling everywhere in the state I don't know whether Carter H. Havrison wants the Democratic nomination for governor. If he wants it, I think that he can have it. I don't know how this state will go next year. I am not a prognosti-cator. I hope it will go Democratic. THE OTHER SIDE

Frank Wilkeson in New York Sun.

At present the excitement about cattle approaches in intensity a mining craze. The writers for the pross and illustrated magazines are; in a great measure, responsible for calling public attention to the western plains Late Lecturer and Professor in one of the leading medical colleges in the United States, editor of the New York Medical and Surgical Journal, consulting physician and operative surgeon in the New Jork Hospital for Chronic Diseases. Physician in Chief of the Medical and Surgical Institute of Cedar Rapids. and the Rocky: mountain valley as desirable localities for cattle-breeding. The majority of these writers know absolutely nothing about the breeding and successful bandling of cattle. They could not distinguish a Durham steer from a scalawag Toxan. Their knowledge is obtained from the fraudulently kept stock books and lying statements made by ranch-men, who are anxious to unload on English and eastern investors. The impression con-veyed by these writers is that the western plains and mountain valleys teem with herds of cattle, feeding on the nutritious grasses, Immense Practice and that certain wealth awaits all men who will pay attention to their herds. Descriptions of life on the plains and in the mount-

are affractive, but are they true?

A MONOTONOUS LIFE. Cattle raising in the west is life on the trontier. It is a life of ceaseless monotony. There is but little danger of the Indians being attracted away from government rations in scalps. The extinction of the buffalo before the rifles of the white robe hunters has solved the Indian question. The ranges that these animals used to migrate over to and fro are now eattle ranges over which the stock grow-ers ride. There is nothing fascinating in the life of a cowboy, or in that of an owner of a small herd. It can be summed up in a few And Remain Two Days the branding roundup, and a few weeks more during the bearding roundup, and a few weeks more during the bear roundup in the fall. The rest of the year is spent in watching the horns of cattle grow, in counting the rings on the base of those weapons of defence, and in cooking and eating bacon and bread.

This attractive life is varied by men who have families of sufficient means by living in some little squalid frontier town. Life in one of these towns is not attractive. The men loaf. Time hangs heavily on the hands men noar, rime nangs neavily on the hands of such men as cannot supply thomselves with intellectual amusement by sitting on an empty dry-goods box and pounding their boot heels against the resounding sides, whila discussing bucking ponies and cows whose tails have been frozen off. The idle stock growers and apparently respected in growers are apparently wrapped up in absorbing thought as to the eastern states, or as to whether Clark's banana-tailed, one-horned cow, the one with the diamond R brand on her right side, and an undercrop on her left ear, is seven or eight years old. There is some hunting done by these men, but the greater portion of them do not hunt. They louf, thay sleep, they lie on blankets, they eat poor food, wrotchedly cooked. A bright, nervous, intellectual young man would abandon the business, as it is generally conducted, in less than a week. He would turn his horse's head toward the nearest railroad station, and getting on the first train, would abandon ranch, cattle, horses and the log cabin standing on the sirocco-swept plain, and hasten to his father and confess that he had made a mistake. He would frankly a knowledge that he could not live without the society of his

A "CATTLE COUNTRY." The phrase "It is a cattle country" means much more than eastern men suppose. To western men, and by western I mean west of the 100th meridian, it conveys the impression of a country of extreme aridness, of rolling plains furrowed at wide intervals by sluggish streams of alkaline water. Across the plains waves of heat roll in the summer, causing the air to tremble, and through which heated medium all objects are distorted to the vision. In the winter arctic storms sweep out of the north. The snow flies horizontally through the air. The furious wind drives it into the ravines, there not being enough vegetation on the levels to hold the snow particles. In the cattle country there are no trees, no good water, unless in mountain val-leys. The grass becomes brown and dry in late June or early July. Every drop of rain that falls after the grass has died for want of water, injures the feed by washing nutriment out of it. This early death of the grass is explained to strangers in an airy manner. The cattle breeder indicates an extensive scope of arid country with putstretched, sweeping arm, and says: "No need for mowing machines here. Nature makes the hay. No heavy work for men in providing feed for the cattle during the winter. The grass cures where it The cattle help themselves." The truth is that on the plains enough grass could not be cut on a hundred acres to feed a cow through the winter. In the valleys grass can be grown if the land is irregated, and better hay—that is, more nutritious hay—inade than in any of the eastern States. But where cattle are held in herds of ten, fifteen, or twenty thousand, it is not possible to procure hay for them.

Immediately cured and; full vigor restored. This affliction—which renders life a burden and marriage impossible—is the penalty paid by the victim of improper hadmigence. Young persons are apt to commit excesses from not being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue. Now, who that inderstands this subject will-deny that piecreation is lost sooner by those falling into improper habits that by pleasaces of healthy offspring, the most serious and destructive symptoms of both mind and holy arise. The system becomes deranged, the physical and montal functions weakened, loss of procreative power, newbox irritability, dyspersia, palpitation of the cheart; indigestion, constitutional debility, wasting of the frame, cough, consumption and death BEEF VS. PORK. At the present prices much money can be made in raising cattle. But will the price of beef rule as high in the near future as it does now? The high price of beef is easily exthree successive short corn crops. How does the corn crop affect the price of beat? As corn is fed to bogs in the western states, a bushel makes ten pounds of pork. In the corn country the price of logs is generally regularly shipped is of a good quality. This spring I lated by the price of cora. When corn is saw better beef—that is fatter beef—hanging worth 25 cents per bushel, hogs bring about 3 in a butcher shop in Laramle City, Wy., than worth 25 cents per bushel, hogs bring about 3 cents per pound. When corn is worth 75 cents per bushel, hogs are worth about 8 cents per pound. When a full crop of corn is made, after a succession of poor crops has sent hogs skyward, the farmers see that they had better feed their corn to cattle and hogs. They save the cost of hauling to the market towns. There is an over-supply of the grain, and the

The fate of the corn crop is known in early August. It a general rain falls soon after the grain has set on the cob, the corn crop is made. When this happens, the hog breeders instantly increase their breeding stock (I have doubled my stock of breeding swine after a coupled my stock of breeding swine after a rain), and in sixteen weeks the ferms are overrun with young pigs. In twenty weeks more there is another crop of pigs. In less than a year from the date on which the farmers were satisfied that the corn crop would prove to be a fair one, the new crop of hogs are butchered in Chicago and Kansas City. The stock of hogs can in a year be increased from scarcity to over-supply. Just as soon as this occurs, down goes the price of pork until it is cheaper than beef, and the millions of people who depend on their daily labor for their food; buy the cheaper meat. Beef is neglected. To sell it the price has to be reduced. It falls in price until it is comparatively as cheap as pork. This has been the history of all high prices of beet. A full corn crop reduces the price of meets. The bottom will fall out of the present excitement about cattle raising promptly after the busking of the first full crop of corn. Another factor that will aid in reducing the other factor that will nid in reducing the price of beef is the fact that no calves are killed in the corn country. In many of the towns lying along the railroad in Kansus, Nebrask Jowa and Missouri it is impossible to buye year. The butchers say that they cannot purchase calves from the farmers. The mortality among cattle is very large on all the ranges of high altitude. This is necessarily so under the present system of management. Two-year-alor heiters drop. Those who reside at a distance desiring the Doctor's services, and cannot call, will receive prompt attention through the mails by writing, stating symptoms, etc., enclosing stamp. Address calves in the early) spring. - An animal 2 E. N. FISHBLATT, M. D years old has not reached maturity. They iun 20 dawly CEDAR RA. (DS, 10WA: shed their truth at that are. creatures are called upon to feed strong calves running at their sides, to nourish others, and to complete their growth. The young ani-mals apparently thrive until late in the summer. Then the calves are strong and demand more milk than their dams can supply when fed on dry grass that has had a portion of its strength washed out by rains. The heifers could be saved if their owners would wear the calves and allow them to recruit before the icy blasts of winter sitt through them; but this is seldom done. The calves stick to their dams until the enfoebled systems of the cows can no longer supply milk. By this time the nuimals are mere bones encesed in a rough hide. They are almost ready to lie down and die. They have lost all ambition. all desire to live. In the case of a mature cow the results are much the same. These animals are never in good condition, unless the grass has been of unusual goodness and the winter exceedingly mild. Thousands of pears; but they do not disappear from the herd books. It must not be believed that all the land represented in bright colors on the maps of the land grant railroads are grazing lands. There are extensive tracts of land in the west that are remote from water. These are grassy deserts. There is a limit to the distance that horned stock can travel to and from a range for water. The daily drive of a herd of Texas cattle, and they are by far the best travelers of all cattle, is limited to fif-teen miles. The animals will about hold their fiesh when traveling that distance per day. If pushed to twenty miles they rap-idly lose fiesh. This being so, it is plain that native cattle, that are notoriously poor travelors, cannot walk more than fifteen miles per day and keep in good condition. If the feeding grounds are more than eight miles from water, the cattle will not grow fat. If they are ten miles from water the animals will lose flesh. The limited capacity of stock to travel bars them out of entensive ranges.

A COMING GRAB.

There is an act of congress, called the de sert land act, under the provisions of which 1,000 acres of land can, be secured. The settler has to irrigate the truct, fence it, and at the end of three years pay $1.25 per acre for it. It was supposed by the members of congress from eastern states that desert land would be reclaimed under this act. The trouble is that desert land is not taken, and the originators of the bill did not intend that lands actually desert should be taken. The plan is to claim the easis of the plains, the natural meadows, to fence and irrigate them and thus get possession of the hay land, which will in the future control the grazing land. The lands located under this act always skirt the rivers, and so control the water, and through the water the hay lands and all the adjoining range. This process of absorbing the range can best be seen in the valley of the Arkansas river. There the river is fenced for miles, and the process is complete. It can be seen in various stages of advancement in any of the western territories; in some but just commenced; in others almost finished. This law was devised by the cattle men for the pur pose of defrauding the government out of the public grazing lands. Cunningly de-vised, it answers perfectly. The hay lands of the plains and the mountain valleys, will soon be in the possession of men owning targo herds.

, CATTLE KINGS. Certain men, who have been successful in dittle raising, are siezed by the coat collar and dangled before the eyes of the castern public as remarkable examples of what industry and paying close attention to horned stock will accomplish for any young man who has the pluck to go west and work faithfully. If the stories are to be believed, those successful men always como west penniless. They arrive at certain towns astride of a spavined, ringboned horse. This worthless animal they traded for a spotted heifer. This heifer is represented as the foundation of the herd. They worked and every cent they carned they put into female cattle. Gradually they became rich. That is the regula-tion tale. The truth is that they invested considerable money in cattle. They branded all the calves they could catch. When their herd was filled with steers fit for the butcher, they opened a butcher shop in the dearest town and drove the other butchers. who did not own herds of cattle to despair by the low prices of the beef they sold, and finally drove them out of the business. accomplished, they promptly increased the thice of beef until there was 500 per centum profit in it. They kept the price up until the other shops resumed business. Then down went the price of beef, until the other butchers could not afford to dull their knives and saws in cutting roasts and steaks. Again they shut up their shops. The very instant the black leg and kindred diseases broke out in the eastern states, and sky ward went the price of beef. For fourteen years I have seen this game played in the west.

Another exceedingly profitable branch of the cattle business was, and is, the supplying of Indians with beef. An Indian beef con-tract is a prize; it is a fortune for any western entile breeder. A thin, scalawag Texan steer, that has been reduced by hard driving and alkaline water until it is doubtful if he will tip the scales at 600 pounds, staggers off of the platform under the weight of 1,300 phunds of beef.; It is astonishing how heavy aisteer is when an employe of the department of the interior weighs him.

Another branch of the business is the fattening of cattle on hay. Again three year-old steers are selected. They are driven into al corral, and there got all the hay they can est. The mountain hay is so nutritious that the steers become as fat as corn-fed animals in the Eastern States. It has been the custom for several years to ship beef during the winter, when cattle are thin on the range from Kansas City to Denver. The beef so I saw in Denver. This choice beef was fattened on hay cut on the Little Laramie river. The business of winter feeding steers on the plains promises to increase rapidly in the near fature. It, is a perfectly safe business, and very profitable. As it increases, so will the value of the hay lands obtained under the Desert Land act.___

-Street Commissioner Brown is putting in a twelve-inch tile-pipe drain across Washington street on Bluff, and a like drain across Bluff street on Madison. Good improvements-the fewer surface drains and gutters in the public streets the better for all concerned. -News has been received from Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Brown, of Le Beau, Dakota, that their little daughter Floy, died suddenly in that place last week Wednesday, of cholera infantum. The bereaved parents will receive the sympathy of a large circle of friends in this city, Clinton, and Milton, where Mr. Brown was formerly engaged in publishing nowspapers. -Messrs, S. H. and A. E. Joiner, the noted breeders of Suffolk swine, of Emerald Grove, this county, have taken a carload of their stock to Minnesota, for the purpose of making a first class exhibition at the Minnesota state fair at Owatonna, next week. -John Houlighan was before the mumeipal court this morning on charge of drunkenness. -A good natured clerk on Main street has been pelted with putty balls, coming from an unknown source, for a day or two, and his patience has been so wrought up, that he has gathered up a half-dozen rotten eggs, which he proposes to let fly at whoever he catches firing at him, regardless of consequences. This putty ball blowing has become an intolerable nuisance, and should be stopped.

-Mrs. B. B. Eldredge has just finished a large painting in oil of a hollyhock, which is certainly a very creditable piece. The coloring is especially fine, and the general features of the work are excellent. We are glad to note that Mrs. Eldredge is doing some good work with the brush. Her floral and figure pieces do her much credit. She is certainly accomplishing very much under that thorough teacher and accomplished artist-Miss May Baldwin.

-The home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. V. Whipple, North River street, first ward, was the scene of a happy social event last evening, the occasion being the marriage of their son, Mr. Bion H. Whipple, and Miss Ida May Cronk, Rev. Dr. M. G. Hodge, of the Baptist church, performing the marriage coremony in the presence of a large number of friends of the happy couple. At the conclusion of the happy We have the best line of complexion | ceremony the newly made man and wife received the hearty congratulation of their numerous friends, and the short hours of the evening flew pleasantly by in merry making. -Ex-Mayor T. T. Croft returned from Edgerton this morning, where he has been the past two days attending to business. Mr. Croft says that according to the reports of Edgerton parties who have made a personal examination of the tobacco fields in that vicinity, the tobacco in Fulton, with the exception of a very few fields, escaped the hail storm of Monday night, It was reported in Edgerton that the towns of Newark, Plymouth. Union and Portor the harl made an almost complete wreck of the crop. Mr. J. W. Bleasdale has made a trip through the towns of Janesville and Center, and reports that but very few fields of tobacco were injured by the hall in the former town, but about three-fourths of the crop in Center is destroyed. He brought in a few specimen stalks, which are completely riddled by bail. -He was rather a small boy, but as he emerged from the front entrance of the postoffice, he let drive a putty-ball at a passing stranger, the putty striking and sticking fast to an eight dollar black tile. but before the little urchin recovered his little blow-gun he discovered the shining star of Marshal Hogan, on the opposite side of the street. The boy's attention was now closely called to the mammoth show bills announcing the appearance of Tony Denier to-morrow evening, and as he was in the act of shoving his gun up his sleeve, and at the same time eyeing the star and endeavoring to explain the tricks of the clown to his companions, he was made to hear the abrupt and positive commands of the marshal-"Boy, come over here, I want you." The little fellow looked three different directions for excape, and thinking escape impossible, he commenced to shed a flood of tears and covered his face with his left arm, holding onto his gun and putty with his right hand; he finally crossed the street to meet the marshal face to face. The boy appeared to understand that the marshal had a weak point and, with the help of a few by-standers, he played off well and saved his gun and putty for further use. Nearing the marshal he bawled right out, and the tears streamed down his face in torrents. One of the by standers suggested to Hogan that he let the little fellow go, because he felt so bad. "Yes," lipped in another, "remember what you were up to when you were a kid, Johnny." "Oh! let the boy have his fun, he will soon outgrow it," chinned in another. The boy hearing this conversation cried had melted, and he refused to accept on those terms, but quietly took hold of the urchin, gave him a sort of fatherly talk about the danger of hurting somebody with such ugly weapons, stuffed the and told him to take his air gun and go home and put it up and wait until the next war, when it would come in play. The boy made good time in turning the first corner.

The Entertainment.

The entertainment given for the benefit of the Young Ladies' Sodality of St. Mary's church last evening, was witnessed by a very large audience, in fact Lappin's music hall was packed, and the entertainment was a great success. The programme, which was a very lengthy one, containing eighteen numbers, was completed by a quarter past ten o'clock. Everything moved along without delay. All those who took part in the exercises performed their parts ad. mirably, each receiving the hearty applause of the audience, and if one in particular is to receive more praise than another it any certainly must be little Frankie Leech who received a hearty encore at the conclusion of her resitation of "Fontency," and responded by singing a comic Irish-American song, which also received hearty applause. The vocal and instrumental, as well as the literary part of the programme was all well rendered, and showed that those who were engaged had devoted much time in preparing so good an entertainment for the people. The young ladies of St. Mary's society are to be congratulated over their excellent succoss, and no doubt they will realize a handsome sum of money for the great trouble they have experienced m carrying it out.

A Pleasant Social Party. Miss Jennie Hodson entertained fifty or sixty of her young friends at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hodson, on Court street, last evening, in a royal manner. The evening being one of the pleasantest, the band stand in the court house park, fronting Miss Jennie's home, was utilized for dancing purposes, the grounds and park in this locality were brilliantly illuminated with Chinose lanterns and locomotive headlights, and Anderson's band furnished the music, refreshments being served to the party in the house. The evening passed rapidly away among the joyous gahering of young people, and at a seasonable hour all returned to their homes well pleased with the festivities. THE TRUE METROPOLITAR. 'Guth' in Philadelphia Times.

Whenever you hear a suppositious New Yorker attacking something like this Cincinnati band merely because it is not a New York band, settle it in your mind that the man is a fraudulent New Yorker. He came not long ago from some other place and is posturing for a New Yorker. There is on the New York press a set of country fellows calling themselves metropolitans before the hayseed is out of their eyebrows. The man worthily a metropolitan is first and last an American. Conkling was eternally harping on the wrongs of the great city of New York, whereas he was traveling Yankee between Albany and Utica and could not tell you where East Broadway or Abingdon square was. The orchestra of Ballenberg is the best in the west, almost up to the excellence of Theodoro Thomas', and its coming to New York is an advance rather than a deterioration of the metropolitan taste toward the recognition of the best, wherever it comes from. RIGHTLY SERVED.

Washington Post.

Not many months ago an honest mechanic, called as a witness in a case on trial in a western city, was grossly in-sulted by a bullying attorney, and the judge did not interiere. The witness, on leaving the stand, quietly remarked to the bully who had asked him irrelevant and insolent questions, that he would see him outside. When the court adjourned and the lawyer stepped out, he was neatly knocked over a railing into an area and so badly injured that he had to keep his bed for some days. But the community approved the conduct of the insulted witness so highly that he was immediately elected to the common council, although he had never before been thought of in connection with any office.
